A note from the Vicar about the organist's fee:

The fee for an organist to play at a wedding in St. Peter's Church is £80. If however the service is recorded on video, under the rules of The Musicians' Union copyright regulations, the organist is entitled to a double fee, because of the visual performance rights of the performer and to pay the royalties of the composer (s) as necessary. Even though there may be no professional video being made, we have found that sometimes guests make amateur recordings without prior warning which is a contravention of copyright law. We therefore ask for two separate cheques for £80 each, payable to the organist. If no video recording (professional or amateur) takes place during the service, one of these cheques will be returned to you after your wedding. I will be the person responsible for making that decision.
